

Summary of eBird Data

Winter Wings Festival 2010

February 12-14

Field trips and other observations during the Winter Wings Festival in 2010 recorded 93 species and tens of thousands of individual birds. Last year was the first year in which we tracked festival observations with eBird, and we increased the total species count by 11 over last year (82). Notable additions to the festival list this year compared to last year included Western and Clark's Grebes, American White Pelican, Northern Goshawk, Peregrine Falcon, Barn and Short-eared Owls, Tree Swallow, Rock and Canyon Wrens, Golden-crowned Kinglet, Western Bluebird, California Towhee, Brown-headed Cowbird, and Cassin's Finch. Notable misses this year included Redhead, Ring-necked Duck, Hooded Merganser, Downy Woodpecker, Northern Shrike, Purple Finch, Pine Siskin, and Evening Grosbeak. A lucky group of early risers for the flyout on Sunday observed over 130 Bald Eagles leaving their night roost in Bear Valley National Wildlife Refuge -- a high count for recent years. In addition to the large numbers of raptors and various waterfowl, other highlights this year not mentioned above included a juvenile light morph Harlan's Red-tailed Hawk, many Eurasian Wigeon, Loggerhead Shrike, Oak Titmouse, and all three Nuthatches. With field trips and activities again planned for Friday, Saturday, and Sunday during the 2011 festival, hopefully we can break the 100 species mark. Join us in observing and recording the diversity and abundance of bird life in the Klamath Basin of Oregon and California in 2011!
